DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Geiser et al '055 in view of Burton '159 and further in view of Deno et al '667.

Geiser et al teach triggering an imaging apparatus using the peak of an R-wave of a cardiac cycle. See col. 45, lines 2-43.

Burton teaches measuring and correcting for peak-to-peak R-wave error. See the discussion related to Figs. 48 and 49. One of ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious eliminate at least one R-peak pulse when an R-peak error has likely occurred because it is well known in the art of heart beat measuring to eliminate heart rate data when the data is suspect as exemplified by Deno et al that teach monitoring signals of an electrogram and waiting until the heart rate is stable and regular to make an RF parameter assessment and to discard RF parameter assessments that are made over a series of heart beats where the heart rate or rhythm deteriorates. See col. 21, lines 50-58.

One of ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to use the teaching of Burton to correct for R-wave peak detection in the device of Geiser et al for CT imaging because the teaching of Burton applies to R-waves which are used for triggering and Geiser et al further suggest correcting the time axis by compensating for adjusted heart rate.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 23 and 24 are allowed.

Claims 2-11 and 13-17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion
